THE ISLAND EYES CONFERENCE makes a return to where it all began. The Maui Intercontinental Resort is now the Wailea Beach Marriott and the site of the 2010 conference. Many of you will remember this beachfront luxury property with the expanse of green lawn and just steps away from the sand and ocean. The hotel now boasts new pools for adults and a separate pool that will be irresistible to children. The schedule for this classic winter conference offers classes in the mornings, with afternoons and evenings free to enjoy the beauty and activities on the Island. There are no classes on Thursday, giving you a full day to plan with your friends and family.

Our faculty includes optometric educators and clinicians who will present the latest information to help you meet the challenges in today's optometric office. This year's faculty includes: Terry Burris, M.D.; Tim Fortner; Jennifer Smythe, O.D.; Blair Lonsberry, O.D.; Louise Sciafani, O.D.; Robert Wooldridge, O.D.; Ken Eakland, O.D.; and, back by popular demand (and unable to resist an invitation to Maui), Les Walls, O.D., M.D..

Those registered for the educational programs can earn up to 25 hours of COPE-approved continuing education and will enjoy a continental breakfast each lecture day. Our program starts with a lavish Arrival Reception on Sunday evening where we will offer heavy hors d'oeuvres and refreshing beverages. Don't forget to pose with your family for a complimentary photo at the reception. A special "Alumni and Friends" reception is scheduled for Monday evening. For the golfers we have a golf outing planned for Wednesday at the Elleair Golf Course. Plan to join us for the Wednesday Happy Hour hosted by Associate Dean Ken Eakland.
