2. Check Your Assumptions

- No judgements or disclaimers (e.g., You are really smart, but...)

- Everyone is an individual, not just a representative of a group - speak from your own perspective and avoid generalizing
- Take RESPONSIBILITY for your own learning; understand that not all members are present to educate others on their differences and recognize that they only represent their individual experience of the group they identify with, not the entire population of that group.
 - Avoid using group members as your sole/initial source for information
- Ask for clarification if you are confused
- 'I Statements' - own your perspective, don't project it
- Believe in our common best intentions

3. The Right to be Human

- Respect each other's right to be human (e.g., to have a bad day, to be triggered, to fail etc.)
- Honor our differences - our family of origin, culture, orientation, race, class, gender, etc. make us who we are
- Acknowledge emotions
- Practice giving and receiving forgiveness (i.e., we will all speak in ways that are inappropriate, the key is to own up to your mistake and ask how to correct it)
- Say "OOPS" and, or acknowledge when you may unintentionally say something and wish you had not
 - Have a high sensitivity level to the feelings of others
- Say "OUCH" when someone's words or actions may hurt you

4. Consensual Dialogue

- Active listening - attention focused, appropriate eye contact, be mindful of your body language, inquire about preferred pronouns
- Take a risk and speak up while maintaining everyone's right to pass
- Silence is okay - pauses in the place of dialogue invite all voices in the room

5. Examples of Misconduct

1. Insensitive remarks repeatedly
2. Berating questions
3. Insisting to be educated by others
4. Minimizing the experiences of others
5. Invalidating the experiences of others

IF the safe space guidelines are violated, a person may be asked to remove themselves from the group
