The above-named person is applying for admission to the Master of Fine Arts in Writing program at Pacific University. The MFA program seeks students who have demonstrated talent for and commitment to the writing process, ability to look objectively at their work, and willingness to use criticism in a discriminating manner while remaining true to individual voice and vision. Students must also be able to work independently for sustained periods and to participate productively and supportively in a writing community.

Knowing this, please provide your reference, including in what capacity you know the applicant, in the space provided on the following page. If you'd prefer to include a separate letter, we welcome that, as well.
