PACIFIC UNIVERSITY STUDENT COUNSELING CENTER (SCC)
CONSENT FOR CLINICAL SERVICES AND PERSONAL INFORMATION FORM

This document answers some important questions concerning our clinical services, which include consultations, crisis services, group therapy, and short-term individual therapy. During your first appointment at the SCC, the clinician will talk with you to clarify your concerns and together determine a plan to address them. This plan may include resources on-campus and off-campus, SCC workshops and events, group therapy, and/or short-term individual therapy. When our staff determine that your needs fall outside of our scope of practice and/or you are seeking speciality or long-term mental health services, the clinician will facilitate a referral in the community. Rare exceptions to short-term therapy are made on a case-by-case basis by our clinical team.

ELIGIBILITY FOR CLINICAL SERVICES:
● Enrolled Pacific University students who have paid the Student Support Fee are eligible for services at the SCC.
● Licensing regulations require that all services be provided only when you are located within the state of Oregon.
● Students who engage in inappropriate, harassing, threatening, or violent behaviors towards SCC staff may lose eligibility for services.

CLIENT RISKS, BENEFITS, AND RIGHTS:
● For counseling to be effective, it is important for you to be active and engaged with your clinician by sharing your concerns and working toward your goals outside of counseling sessions.
● While it is not possible to guarantee outcomes, the SCC is committed to providing high quality services.
● Counseling often involves discussion of difficult topics, and you may experience uncomfortable feelings.
● Engaging in counseling can lead to benefits such as a reduction in distress, increased satisfaction in relationships, greater personal and cultural awareness, and increased skills for managing your concerns.
● You are encouraged to ask for information regarding clinician credentials, qualifications, therapy approaches, and possible alternative treatments.
● Links to ethics standards, state laws, and administrative rules of the professional licensing boards relevant to the staff at SCC, are available on request.
● You should expect to receive considerate, respectful, and culturally sensitive services regardless of sex, gender, disability, sexual identity, race, ethnicity, creed, religion, body size, age, socioeconomic status, or national origin.
● You may request or refuse any particular technique or withdraw from treatment at any time.
● You understand that by coming to the office you are taking on the risk of a contagious illness.
● If you’re feeling unwell or you know that you’ve been exposed to a contagious illness, stay home and seek appropriate health care. Contact our clinic to reschedule, cancel, or arrange for a teletherapy appointment.
● Mask wearing is not required, but is welcomed at the SCC.

CLINICAL STAFF:
● Our staff is composed of both licensed and pre-licensed clinicians. Your clinician will provide more information regarding their specific credentials during your initial appointment.
● Our pre-licensed staff include Clinical Psychology and Counseling graduate students, who adhere to the same ethical and legal standards as licensed clinicians and are supervised by licensed clinicians at our center.

VIDEO RECORDING:
● With your written permission, our pre-licensed clinicians at the SCC routinely use audio-visual equipment to record sessions with their clients to facilitate consultation with their SCC licensed clinical supervisor to enhance your care.
● These recordings are confidential, they are routinely erased, and not all of them are reviewed.
● If you do not want sessions recorded, you are under no obligation to consent to this request. Your clinician will provide additional information during your first meeting.
● Signing here indicates that you have read the Video Recording section and you provide consent to record your counseling sessions: _______________________________

CONFIDENTIALITY AND PRIVACY PRACTICES

Counseling services at the SCC are confidential and are protected by Oregon State Laws, our professional ethics, and by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). In general, no information gathered through counseling services is shared outside the SCC without your written permission. Within the SCC, confidential information is shared among staff for purposes of scheduling, clinical consultation, supervision, and training. Please see below the legal and ethical mandates to break confidentiality that are primarily focused on preventing harm to you and others:

- When we determine that there is a strong possibility of serious harm or death to yourself or someone else and we are unable to collaborate on a plan with you to ensure safety.
- When we learn of abuse or neglect of children, adults with mental illness or with developmental disabilities, the elderly, animals, and/or sexual activity with someone under the age of 18.
- In cases where there is a legal subpoena or a court order for records.
- If you file a worker compensation claim or claim mental illness as a defense in a criminal or civil legal action.
- Oregon Professional Licensing Boards that regulate our work may subpoena relevant records should our staff become the subject of a complaint. If a client files a complaint or lawsuit against the SCC, we may disclose relevant information regarding that client.
- Some high security employment positions (e.g., government, Peace Corps, law enforcement, military, etc.) and licensing boards (e.g., state attorney, mental health regulating boards, etc.) may request or require you to release medical records as part of a background check. We will only respond to such requests with your written authorization specifically to release your mental health records.
- We may be required to disclose, without your written authorization, your health information to authorized federal officials, with a legal subpoena or a court order, who are conducting national security and intelligence activities.
- In the event of your death, a personal representative of your estate or next of kin will have a legal right to access your treatment records and we can share health information with a coroner or medical examiner.
- If you are between 14 and 18 years old, you may access counseling services without consent of your guardian, however our clinicians are expected to inform your guardians by the end of treatment unless this is therapeutically contraindicated.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND TELTHERAPY

- Teletherapy services have the same confidentiality coverage and limits thereof as in-person services described above with some additional considerations.
- As with any technology, there are risks of intrusion by hackers or other unauthorized users. SCC takes steps to limit these risks by utilizing password protected hardware and software, a secure server, and encrypted software for online forms and videoconferencing.

MAINTENANCE OF RECORDS:

- Electronic and written records of contact with the SCC are kept secure according to legal and ethical standards set by state and federal law, FERPA Treatment Records, and the American Psychological Association.
- The SCC utilizes electronic health records, which are housed on a secure centralized server and can be accessed only by current authorized SCC staff.
- These mental health records are separate from all other university records.
- The SCC 24/7 Support and Crisis Line engages in ongoing collaboration with clinicians at the SCC and provides confidential call summary reports which are treated as SCC treatment records.
- Current and former SCC clients may request to review their records with their clinician or to release relevant information from their records to appropriate professionals by signing an SCC Authorization to Release Protected Health Information form.
- In compliance with state law and university policy, records are maintained for 7 years following the date of last contact and are then destroyed.

PERSONAL INFORMATION

We request the following personal information to better serve you as a cultural being within the therapeutic process. We utilize aggregate and non-identifiable information to aid in our ongoing efforts towards more effective, equitable, and inclusive services for our community. Beyond your name, contact information, and emergency contact information, you are not required to fill out any information that you are not comfortable sharing with us. Please provide updated information to your clinician when applicable.

EMAIL COMMUNICATION:
- At the SCC, we use email for appointment reminders, facilitating logistics for teletherapy, scheduling, providing resources, and sending links to anonymous surveys. We do NOT use email to engage in therapeutic conversations.
- Please be aware that e-mail communication cannot be guaranteed to be confidential and may be vulnerable to unauthorized access.
- If you desire a more secure form of communication, please use the telephone. We are also able to utilize an email encryption service through UIS; if you prefer to communicate in this way, please notify us.
- Our email is not monitored outside of office hours. We cannot always respond to emails immediately and may take up to 48-hours to respond. Because of this potential delay, we ask that you do not use email if you are experiencing a mental health emergency or crisis.
