Welcome

Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i, Pacific University’s Hawaiian Club, was founded in the Fall of 1959. Sixteen students from the islands of Hawai‘i, under the guidance of Dr. Fred Scheller and Dr. A.C. “Hap” Hingston, decided to unify all of Pacific’s Hawaiian students into one common group. These “students of Hawai‘i” led by the club’s first president, Tagay Kang, actively shared their island traditions by performing at various functions both on and off the University campus.

The club’s membership grew rapidly, and by 1962, sixty members represented five of the eight Hawaiian islands. On September 28th of that historical year, president Ray Nishiyama received the official charter of “Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i.”

Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i, or NHOH, boasts a very active membership and accomplished history. Active members not only participate in social functions, but are also involved with community service projects. In 1996, NHOH received television and news recognition in Hawai‘i for hosting one of the most outstanding college lū‘au’s in the Pacific Northwest. On April 11th, 1998, the Senate Legislature of the State of Hawai‘i recognized Pacific’s Hawaiian club by proclamation, for promoting their lū‘au to educate and perpetuate the Hawaiian culture. On March 19, 2010, Senators Daniel Inouye and Daniel Akaka presented Pacific University’s Hawaii Club with a Congressional Record for their 50th Anniversary Lū‘au.

As we enter our 59th year of being a prominent cultural organization on campus, our club has opened up membership to any individual interested in learning more about the Hawaiian culture. Our club’s membership has tripled over the years and through social and community activities, members of NHOH continue to strive to acquaint Pacific and the Northwest community with Hawai‘i - it’s people, culture, and the special meaning of “Aloha.”

Advice for Mainland-bound Isle Students

• Make a packing checklist. Do this at least a month in advance. Indicate how each item should be transported, whether via UPS or as a carry-on. It will later serve as an inventory list when checking to make sure everything arrived.

• Call the roommate ahead of time. This will allow roomies to “meet” over the phone or Internet, coordinate what each will bring, and set a meeting time and place.

• Join NHOH, the Hawaiian club!

• Collect contacts. Fill an address book with names, phone numbers, and snail-mail and e-mail addresses of the student’s family and friends. Don’t forget stamps.

And, here’s some advice just for students:

• Take reminders of home. Homesickness is a given. Packing posters, photos, even cheesy postcards can liven up your dorm room and your spirit. And don’t forget the Hawaiian music; you may not like it now, but you’ll miss it when you’re thousands of miles away from your Island home.

• Go to all freshman orientation events!! They will help put you more in sync with fellow students and Pacific University.

• Be ready to explain over and over again about living in Hawai‘i. Mainland friends will ask Hawai‘i students endlessly about why anyone would ever want to “leave paradise.” Yet being from Hawai‘i also has its advantages: You can always make conversation about your pidgin English accent.

• Bring your aloha wear. Don’t forget a ribbon or kukui nut lei. And of course, you’ll definitely want to bring a couple pairs of “slippahs.”

Getting Involved

Perhaps the most unique part of the Hawai‘i club is the support amongst its members. Students who are a part of Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i become part of a family, or ohana, and are quickly woven into an intricate pattern that makes their college experience very interesting. From the beginning, Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i provides its members with networks of support and numerous opportunities to get involved.

Our Peer Mentor Success program is one example of support the upperclassmen provide for new students. Through this program, new students are able to adjust to their new surroundings with the help of their upperclassmen “big brothers and sisters.” On many occasions, this initial friendship goes on to last many years after leaving Pacific.

Students not only support each other academically, but also spiritually and socially. During times of homesickness, students rely on each other to help get through the tough time. Also, throughout the school year, members have the opportunity to participate in club functions and play on the club’s intramural teams. Our club has participated in intramural volleyball, soccer, flag football and softball. The students enjoy the competitive spirit that comes along with playing sports, but the most important thing is to have fun and meet new people.
Members of Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i have the opportunity to take on leadership positions, both within the club as well as on campus. Any member is welcome to run for a position on the NHOH Executive Board. Elections are held every Spring and officers attend weekly meetings throughout the year. There is no restriction as to how many years one may serve as an officer. The Exec Board is responsible for planning activities for club members to take part in. Each September two freshman are elected to serve as representatives on the executive board. They help to open the lines of communication between the upperclassmen and new students.

Students can also get involved by chairing or working with various different lū‘au committees. There are various committees that you can join, all of which are essential to making lū‘au the large-scale event that it is. The skills developed through these leadership roles lead to opportunities for you to get involved in different organizations on campus (i.e. residence life, student government, and other Pacific clubs & organizations, etc.)

The most obvious benefit to members of the club are the activities provided. At the beginning of the year, we have a “Welcome Back” picnic, so the members can all meet one another. About a week before Thanksgiving, the club goes on a shopping trip to buy clothes and necessities for winter. If you’re not sure about what you need, the upperclassmen are there to help you out.

On a separate note, another of the key issues freshmen face is homesickness. Being away from home is difficult to say the least; I remember looking outside my window, wondering if the rain was ever going to stop. It didn’t. And it doesn’t. But that’s nothing to get emotional over. We appreciate the sunny days that much more, and get excited when we have the chance to play tennis or flag football or barbecue potluck-style. The rainy days (most of them) aren’t so bad either; we watch a lot of movies, play video games, and even get a chance to study. The best way to keep from getting homesick is to surround yourself with friends. It’s hard to think about missing shave ice when you’re laughing at a movie or crave the beach when you’re playing Halo. Laughter might cure all illnesses, but friends prevent homesickness. That’s a diagnosis straight from (not yet) Doctor Oshiro.

At the start of this article, I mentioned that this is the start of your First-Year Experience, and the only way to truly feel an experience is to keep an open mind and allow yourself to try new things. There are so many opportunities available to you, and I’m not just talking about going to the parties you will be invited to. I’m talking about clubs, organizations, friendships: things that you can be a part of, make a contribution to, and take more away from than you ever thought possible. Our club offers various programs to explore Oregon like driving down to the coast, or picking pumpkins at the infamous Roloff Farms. I know the programmers have some really great ideas; they want to make sure that your first year in Oregon is one that will make you want to come back for the next three. So no worries, guys, we know how to have a good time.

When I began college, I was a little worried, friendless, and overwhelmed in my classes. Meeting people, getting out there and experiencing what Pacific truly had to offer changed everything. So allow yourself to make the most of your First Year Experience; don’t stress over the little things, utilize your opportunities, and don’t be afraid to ask for help. The mentors you will meet today are here for the sole purpose to make your transition into college as smooth as possible, so feel free to use us! Good luck, and I wish you all the best as you enjoy your Freshman year here.
As incoming freshmen, you will register for a class called “First-Year Seminar.” However, the First-Year Experience is what your first year in college is really about, something filled with new growth, fond memories, and nothing to be afraid of.

A year ago I stood where you are now, and the people sitting beside me quickly became the first friends I had at Pacific. See, our school isn’t one of those individualist places where each student is obsessed with outdoing everyone else, it is a multi-faceted community of staff, students, and family. That’s what makes Pacific special, and it’s also the main reason you have nothing to fear as you embark on your college journey.

The road is difficult, yes, for those seeking an undergraduate degree, and take it from me, Pacific’s undergrad is certainly no cakewalk. Coursework is tedious, exams are difficult, and lectures are often far from interesting. However, it is the community aspect of Nā Haumāna O Hawai‘i, literally “the students of Hawai‘i,” that makes all the difference. I struggled in my fall semester’s Calculus II class; I knew no one at the start, much less the material. I’m sure you’ll feel the same fear when confronted with infinite bounds and integrating to infinity. However, it was through the friendships I established here that I was able to find help with studying and pull off a decent grade by the end of class. As a freshman, it is always comforting to remember not only that your classmates are willing to help you, but that three years of upperclassmen have already taken the class, and of those, a majority will jump at the chance to help once asked. We all want to keep up our grades; those of us headed to grad school need high marks, and those in varsity athletics need to stay eligible. The comforting thing to keep in mind is that we can all help each other, and freshmen need the most help, and have the most available to them. So whether it be study groups, tutoring, or borrowing a textbook, we’re all here for the same purpose: to get an education, and we’re all willing to help each other out to do so.

During Thanksgiving break, the students who stay on-campus participate in a number of activities, including getting together for a potluck dinner, shopping, playing football, and skiing. The club also has Christmas shopping trips, so you can do all your shopping before you go home for the break. The last activity for the fall semester is the annual Christmas banquet, a nice dinner on campus where members get to come together right before going home for the holidays.

During Spring Semester, our main activity is our annual lū‘au. Meetings start late in the fall, with practices usually starting in the beginning of February. Traditionally, our lū‘au has always been the second Saturday in April - April 13, 2019. Throughout the school year we perform a few pre-shows at elementary schools or senior centers in the community, to give us a small taste of what the actual performance will be like. However, nothing compares to the lū‘au itself. Pacific University’s lū‘au is a culmination of many hours of hardwork and many hearts coming together to share a unique aspect of our island heritage. Pacific University boasts the only completely student-run and student-directed lū‘au in the Northwest, attracting over two thousand people a year.

Oregon 101:
What You Should Know
What to Expect

Weather
- Oregon averages about 37 inches of rain each year.
- SUMMER (June-August)- temperatures range between 70’s-100’s.
- FALL (September-November)- temperatures drop to 50’s & 60’s, and it begins to RAIN. It usually rains from October to March. During the fall, the leaves begin to change color and fall from the trees.
- WINTER (December-February)- temperatures drop to the 30’s. There is a slight chance of snow in Forest Grove.
- SPRING (March-May)- temperatures in 50’s & 60’s and the rain slowly subsides. It is not uncommon to have a few sunny days during the latter part of March and beginning of April. Usually during May temperatures return to the 70’s & 80’s.

Time Difference
All of Oregon is on Pacific Standard Time, except for the Ontario city area in Eastern Oregon, which is on Mountain Standard Time. Daylight Saving Time (DST) is observed from the second Sunday in March until the first Sunday in November and starts at 2:00 am.

November 4, 2018 - March 10, 2019 “Fall back” 1 hour (Time changes from 1:59 am to 1:00 am) 2 hours ahead of Hawai’i time

March 10, 2019 - November 3, 2019 (DST observed) “Spring forward” 1 hour (Time changes from 1:59 am to 3:00 am) 3 hours ahead of Hawai’i time
