Philosophy
http://www.pacificu.edu/as/philosophy

Introductory Courses (100 & 202)
   100 - Introduction to Philosophy
   202 - Ethics and Society

These courses are introductory and are open to all students. Each of these 4-credit courses is offered every semester. Majors and minors must take 100 or 202. Majors on the Ethics, Society, and Law track must take 202.

200 Level Courses (205, 206, 207, 208, 212, 221, 240, 255)
   205 - Ancient Philosophy
   206 - Medieval Philosophy
   207 - Early Modern Philosophy
   208 - Late Modern Philosophy
   212 - Language and Logic
   221 - Sports Ethics
   240 - Human Rights
   255 - Special Topics

These 4-credit courses are open to all students. 205-208 is the four-semester history sequence in philosophy; one of these courses is offered every semester; majors must take at least two courses in this history sequence, ethics track majors and minors at least one. Phil/Math 212 (Language and Logic) is offered every year and fulfills the math core requirement; all majors and minors must take this course. 255 is a special topics course offered occasionally.

300 Level Courses (304, 305, 307, 309, 310, 314, 315, 321, 322, 343, 349, 355)
   304 - Philosophy of Art
   305 - Asian Philosophy
   307 - Ethics, Medicine, & Health Care
   309 - Philosophy of Religion
   310 - Philosophy of Science
   314 - Philosophy of Mind
   315 - Philosophy of Law
   321 - Environmental Ethics
   322 - Animal Ethics
   343 - Studies in Criticism & Theory
   349 - Research & Dissemination
   355 - Special Topics

These courses are intended for students with prior experience in philosophy or for upper-division students; sophomore standing is a prerequisite. Most of these courses are offered every other year except for Phil 307 (Ethics, Medicine, and Health Care) which is offered every semester. Majors typically take at least three of these courses, minors at least two. 355 is a special topics course offered occasionally.

349 (Research and Dissemination) is offered in the spring, and typically taken by majors in their junior year.

400 Level Courses (403, 405, 494/495)
   403 - Twentieth Century Philosophy
   405 - Topics in Moral Philosophy
   494/495 - Senior Seminar I/II

Intended for philosophy majors or minors. These courses presume considerable background in philosophy. There are specific prerequisites for each of these courses. 494/495 is the two-semester Senior Seminar sequence offered every year. Other 400-level courses are offered at most every other year. Note: to be eligible to register for Senior Seminar, students must have completed eighteen hours of philosophy, Phil 212, and one course in the history sequence (205-208), each with a C- or better.

Sample Schedule for a Philosophy Major

First Year: Philosophy 100 or any of our 200-level courses
Second Year: One course from the history sequence (205-208); Phil 212; another 200 or 300-level Phil course
Third Year: Two or three upper-level Phil courses (300); history sequence course?
Fourth Year: Phil Senior Seminar (494/495); additional upper-level Phil courses as required