PROGRAMS
Theatre studies develop and encourage creativity, collaboration, critical thinking, and communication. We are dedicated to a high standard in the performing arts and to the rigorous study of performance from a liberal arts perspective.

Performance and production experiences are available to all students, regardless of major. Productions are typically cast at the beginning of each semester. Students who wish to be informed of upcoming opportunities should contact Dr. Margolis, margolis@pacificu.edu, to join the program’s mailing list.

Students who wish to perform in theatre productions at Pacific should take THEA110 (Beginning Acting) in their first year if possible.

There are also opportunities in all areas of design (scenic, lighting, costume, makeup, sound) and backstage work. We encourage all students to become involved!

Students can major or minor in Applied Theatre or Theatre. Students interested in any theatre degree should contact the Department Chair to plan their studies.

Graduates of the traditional Theatre program typically go on to work in the theatre, education, or other creative professions.

Applied Theatre courses and programs investigate theatre as a form of service, as a social tool, or as civic engagement. Pacific’s distinctive Applied Theatre program reflects a strong national trend, as we have come to understand the powerful transformative effects of the arts. Student graduating in Applied Theatre are prepared for careers or graduate studies in service professions such as Occupational Therapy.

PLANNING—APPLIED THEATRE MAJOR
Students planning to major in Applied Theatre should take Theatre 110, Theatre 120, and Applied Theatre 215 by the end of their sophomore year if possible.

PLANNING—THEATRE MAJOR
Because the Theatre major is relatively small in terms of credit hours, many students choose to double major, combining this major with studies in media, languages, literature, music, art, or the social or natural sciences.

Students planning to major in Theatre are encouraged to take THEA110, 112, 120, and 180 as freshmen or sophomores, and THEA210 or 220 by the end of their junior year.

Many Theatre majors complete Internships with local professional theatres as part of their education; students should confer with Theatre faculty to arrange for internships.
