We are pleased to offer a 12-month, full-time residency program for licensed physical therapists who want to specialize in acute care physical therapy.

Residents complete their clinical experience at the University of Washington Medical Center, consistently named to the U.S. News and World Report Best Hospitals Honor Roll and #1 in the State of Washington.

Our mission to graduate residents who have advanced practice, teaching, and leadership skills in the area of acute care physical therapy.
Our goals are to educate the physical therapy resident to:

- Improve the health of the public by educating physical therapy residents to provide safe, advanced, effective clinical care as a highly valued, integral member of the acute care interdisciplinary team.

- Become educators for patients/clients, physical therapy students and colleagues, the broader healthcare community, and the public, by providing hands on educational experience in the clinic and in the classroom.

- Become consultants, advocates, and ambassadors of the physical therapy profession by providing structured mentorship and opportunities to engage in professional development and leadership.

- Be a critical consumer of the available research, seamlessly integrate the best evidence into practice and disseminate information to their interdisciplinary colleagues and the larger physical therapy community.

Program Overview

Clinical practice:
- Rotation through our main medical services including: general and orthopedic surgery, neuro/neurosurgery, general medicine, solid organ transplant, cardiothoracic care, and oncology.
- Extensive experience in four different ICUs (surgery, medicine, cardiothoracic, and oncology).

Teaching:
- Education of physical therapists related to the translation of research into practice.
- Participation in the didactic and practical education of entry-level physical therapy students.

Didactic and Clinical Mentoring:
- 1:1 mentoring with DPT faculty members, and with expert clinical staff.
- Weekly 1:1 clinical mentoring in direct patient care with skilled primary and adjunct mentors who are expert clinicians in their area of practice.

You'll spend a minimum of 32 hours in clinical practice each week and receive 150 hours of one-on-one mentoring over the course of the year, allowing you to integrate newly acquired knowledge and skills into patient care.
