Graduate students in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders must achieve a level of mastery established by faculty for designated ASHA knowledge and skill competencies. Mastery is achieved when markers of competency are reached in related coursework and clinical activities.

Student________________________________________________________________________

Instructor________________________________________________________________________

Knowledge/Skill Competency________________________________________________________________________

Class/Clinical Activity________________________________________________________________________

The student named above has not successfully demonstrated the level of mastery required for the identified ASHA competency marker. The student and instructor agree to the following remedial activity:

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

Student Signature ____________________________ Date ____________________________

Instructor Signature ____________________________ Date ____________________________