When you're searching for articles in Boxer Search, you can expand your results to include articles to which Pacific University doesn't have full-text access.

The screenshot shows the Boxer Search interface. At the top, there's a search bar with "emily kendal frey" and a dropdown menu set to "Articles". Below the search bar, there are filters for "Expand My Results" and "Show only". The "Expand My Results" section has a checkbox for "Include resources with no full-text" which is checked and highlighted with a red box. The "Show only" section has a dropdown for "Full Text Online (6)". The results section shows one article from Cleveland State University with a gray dot and the text "No full-text".

Items with a gray dot labeled "No full-text" may be requested through Interlibrary Loan (ILLiad).

The screenshot shows a search result for "Sarah Theberge, Ooligan Press, Rattapallax: Friday in Books" by Jeff Baker. The article is from The America's Intelligence Wire, April 19, 2013. It has a gray dot and the text "No full-text". Below the article title, there are links for "Availability & request options" and "Details".

Click Availability & request options. In the section that opens below, click Request from another library.

The screenshot shows the "Availability & request options" dialog box. It has a "Sign-in for more options" link. Below that, it says "Your search did not match any physical resource in the libraries. Use the link/s below in order to request the resource from other libraries." There are two links: "Request from another library" and "Request from a library that has the resource in its collection". A red arrow points to the "Request from another library" link. At the bottom, there is a link for "Library Staff".

The ILLiad Logon page will open in a new tab. Sign in with your PUNet ID and password.

Pacific University ILLiad

The screenshot shows the ILLiad Logon page. It has a title "ILLiad Logon" and two input fields: "PUNet ID" and "PUNet Password". Below the fields is a button labeled "Logon to ILLiad".

The copy request page will open and will already be filled out with the citation information from Boxer Search. Click the Submit Request button at the bottom of the form. You will receive an email when your article is available.

The screenshot shows the ILLiad Copy Request form. It has a title "Copy Request" and a note "Enter information below and press the Submit button to send." Below that, there is a section "Here is the item I need:" with several fields: "Journal Title" (The America's Intelligence Wire), "Volume", "Issue Number", "Year" (2013), "Pages", "ISSN/ISBN (International Standard Serial/Book Number)", "Item Author(s)" (Jeff Baker), "Item Title" (Sarah Theberge, Ooligan Press, Rattapallax: Friday in Books), "Best received by date for my research" (08/07/2014), "If my article is not available in English I still want it" (Yes), "Notes", and "Where did you find this item cited?" (primo.exlibrisgroup.com-bcsc). At the bottom, there are three buttons: "Submit Request", "Clear Form", and "Cancel - Return to Main Menu". A red arrow points to the "Submit Request" button.
